

July Newsletter

Moving doesn't have to feel overwhelming. Whether you're relocating across town or just starting to think about your next move, a little planning can make the entire process smoother. This month, I'm sharing simple moving and packing tips that can save time, money, and stress.

Pack Smarter, Not Harder

A few small strategies can make a big difference:

- Declutter first - Moving is the perfect time to donate or discard items you no longer use
- Label boxes clearly by room and contents (your future self will thank you)
- Pack a “first-night” box with essentials like toiletries, chargers, and a change of clothes

Organize for an Easier Unpack

- Use color-coded labels for each room
- Take photos of electronics before unplugging cords
- Keep important documents, keys, and valuables with you—not on the truck

Save Money on Moving Day

- Move mid-week or mid-month when possible—rates are often lower
- Use towels and linens to wrap fragile items instead of buying extra supplies
- Ask local stores for free boxes

Tips for Selling & Moving at the Same Time

If you're selling your home while preparing to move:

- Start packing non-essential items early
- Keep closets and storage areas partially empty for showings
- Consider temporary storage to reduce clutter and improve presentation

Thinking About a Move?

Even if moving is still months away, having a plan makes everything easier. I'm happy to help with:

- Timing your sale and move smoothly
- Referrals for trusted movers and service providers
- A custom moving timeline based on your goals
